

H U G O B O S S

HUGO BOSS is globally renowned as a successful fashion and lifestyle brand. On the one hand, we have our passion for extraordinary design and high expectations regarding fabrics, processing and fit to thank. On the other hand, we like to encourage our team of almost 12,500 employees to think outside the box. After all, different perspectives enhance creativity and performance and result in products that are sold in 127 countries at over 7,000 sales points around the globe.

We are searching within the Bodywear & Hosiery Creative Technical Product Development Department, for a 6 months internship in Coldrerio/Switzerland an:

Intern Creative Technical Product Development

The successful candidate will mostly be handling the following tasks:

- Technical support during the development and prototyping phase;
- Product development data management (Excel, SAP, PDM);
- Support in fittings and follow up of measurement charts;
- Preparation of sales material;
- Administrative support.

If you:

- Have studied clothing /textile technology;
- Have creativity combined with technical know-how;
- Have good knowledge of MS-Office and Adobe Photoshop or other design software;
- Are fluent in English, German and/or Italian;
- Are able to work in team as well as independently;
- Are willing to start from the base and to learn our business;
- Have good organizational and communication skills.

Then you are the person we are looking for, please apply directly online:
www.group.hugoboss.com